From the dangers of sugar to the benefits of coffee, there's something for everyone in this book. Doe covers a wide range of topics, including:

- Health and nutrition
- Science and technology
- History and culture
- Religion and spirituality
- Politics and economics

Doe's writing is clear and concise, and he provides plenty of evidence to support his claims. He also has a great sense of humor, and he makes learning about these misconceptions a lot of fun.

500 Things People Believe That Aren't True is a must-read for anyone who wants to learn more about the world around them. It's a book that will challenge your assumptions and make you think twice about the things you believe.

Here are a few of the misconceptions that Doe debunks in his book:

- Sugar is bad for you.
- Coffee is bad for you.
- The Great Wall of China is visible from space.
- The Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo da Vinci.
- The Earth is flat.

These are just a few of the many misconceptions that Doe covers in his book. If you're interested in learning more about the truth behind these and other common beliefs, then I highly recommend checking out 500 Things People Believe That Aren't True.
