12 dinner party rules

Guest: Do not arrive early.

Guest: Be up front with the host about your E.T.A.

Host: Be ready when you said the evening would begin.

Guest: Do not bring someone unless you have cleared it with the host first.

Host: A good host can reroute a boring or inelegant conversation on a dime.

Host: If someone has had one too many? Isolate them.

Guest: A guiding principle about what to bring begins with simply asking the host.

Host: Keep phones away for the better part of the evening.

Guest: If you are newly arrived in a city, don't shy away from any invitations.

Guest: Offer to help out, but don't insist upon it.

Host: When the evening is over, close down the bar or begin talking about the evening in the past tense.

Guest: Say thank you when you leave. And Send a written note the next day.
